

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xv
Part I: Core Clinical Competence and Self-Awareness	1
Chapter 1 Facilitating Clinician Development Using Themes of Personal Issues.	3
Karni Kissil, Alba Niño, and Harry J. Aponte
Chapter 2 Exploring the Person-of-the-Therapist for Better Joining, Assessment, and Intervention	9
Alba Niño, Karni Kissil, and Harry J. Aponte
Chapter 3 The Empathy Game.	15
Trent S. Parker and Kristyn M. Blackburn
Chapter 4 Seeing Through the Eyes of the Other Using Process Recordings.	21
Dana A. Schneider, Elizabeth Rodriguez-Keyes, and Elizabeth King Keenan
Chapter 5 Discovering Acceptance and Nonjudgment Through Mindfulness	27
Jaclyn D. Cravens and Jason B. Whiting
Chapter 6 Encouraging Self-Reflection in the Reflective Listening Process.	33
Paul Burke and Melinda Hohman
Chapter 7 Enhancing Self-Awareness Using Feedback Reflection	41
Elisabeth Esmiol and Rebecca Partridge
Chapter 8 Exploring Personal Roles and Themes in Clinical Training	49
Alyssa Banford and Rachel Tambling
Chapter 9 Addressing Resistance to Behavior Change	55
Rebecca Mirick
Chapter 10 Teaching Self-Compassion to Decrease Performance Anxiety in Clinicians . .	61
Anna I. Bohlinger, Jeni L. Wahlig, and Stephanie Trudeau-Hern
Chapter 11 Reconnecting With the Motivation to Become a Clinician.	67
Bob Gillespie and Julia O'Reilly

Chapter 12	Giving a Voice to Clinicians-in-Training About Their Concerns	73
	Yudum Akyil, Binh Pham, and Norja Cunningham
Chapter 13	A New Experience With the Family of Origin	79
	Sean D. Davis and Armando Gonzalez-Cort
Chapter 14	Exploring Conflict and Its Importance to Clinician Development	85
	Bridget Roberts-Pittman and Anna M. Viviani
Chapter 15	Examining the Source of Negative Self-Beliefs	91
	Larry D. Williams and Andrae Banks
Chapter 16	Creating a Safe Learning Environment for Clinicians Through Group Discussion and Supervision	97
	J. Christopher Hall
Chapter 17	Increasing Competence for Working With International and National Disasters	103
	Noah Hass-Cohen, Thomas Veeman, Karina A. Chandler-Ziegler, and Andrew Brimhall
Chapter 18	Developing Supervision Skills for Resiliency and Decreased Vicarious Trauma	111
	Noah Hass-Cohen and Karina A. Chandler-Ziegler
Chapter 19	Dealing With Trauma Using Self-Awareness and Self-Care	119
	Kami L. Schwerdtfeger
Chapter 20	Aligning Organizational and Individual Culture and Values	127
	Sue Steiner and Kathy Cox
Chapter 21	Collaborative Reflective Training for Mental Health Clinicians in Medical Settings	135
	Barbara Couden Hernandez and Lana Kim
Chapter 22	Using Medical Genograms in Clinical Supervision	141
	Tai Justin Mendenhall and Stephanie Trudeau-Hern
Part II:	Diversity-Focused Competence and Self-Awareness	149
Chapter 23	Increasing Awareness of Multicultural Issues in Therapy and Supervision . . .	151
	Karen L. Caldwell and Shari Galiardi
Chapter 24	Exploring Other Perspectives of Gender and Ethnicity	159
	Roy A. Bean, Alexander L. Hsieh, and Adam M. Clark

Chapter 25	Understanding Power Imbalances in the Clinical Encounter.	165
	Kimberly A. E. Carter, Jayme R. Swanke, and Venessa A. Brown
Chapter 26	Inviting a Better Understanding of Privilege and Disadvantage.	173
	Peggy McIntosh
Chapter 27	Reexamining Social Class, Ethnicity, and Available Resources.	183
	Kerri E. Newman, Haley V. Pettigrew, Cecily R. Trujillo, and Sara A. Smock Jordan
Chapter 28	Experiencing Poverty Through a Large-Group Role-Play	191
	Andrae Banks and Larry D. Williams
Chapter 29	Fostering Awareness of Ability and Disability Through Group Inclusion and Exclusion	197
	Kathleen Nash
Chapter 30	Enhancing Self-Awareness for Working With Deaf Clients.	205
	Mary C. Hufnell
Chapter 31	Preparing Clinicians to Work With Co-occurring Disabilities and Substance Abuse	213
	Ally DeGraff, Phillip Sorenson, Alane Atchley, and Sara Smock Jordan
Chapter 32	Empowering Clinicians to Work With African Immigrants Through Game Playing	219
	Tohoro Francis Akakpo
Chapter 33	Group Role-Plays and the Immigrant Experience.	225
	Chandra Lasley
Chapter 34	Supervising Foreign-Born Clinicians in the United States.	233
	Senem Zeytinoglu, Yudum Akyil, and Karni Kissil
Chapter 35	Challenging Heterosexual and Cisgender Privilege in Clinical Supervision. . .	239
	Monique D. Walker and Ana M. Hernandez
Chapter 36	Exploring Perceptions of LGBTQ Individuals and Couples	247
	Bethany Luna, Cody Heath, Anna Andrews, Sara A. Smock Jordan, and Monica Higgins
Chapter 37	Discovering Compassion for Victims of Domestic Violence	255
	Lisa Vallie Merchant and Jason B. Whiting

Chapter 38	Developing Empathy for Co-victims of Rape	263
	Karen Rich
Chapter 39	Increasing Awareness for Working With Overweight Clients	271
	Keeley J. Pratt and Jaclyn D. Cravens
Chapter 40	Dealing With Addiction and Recovery	281
	Fred P. Piercy and Manjushree Palit
Chapter 41	Experiencing the Addiction Recovery Process	287
	Angela B. Bradford, Scott A. Ketring, and Thomas A. Smith
Chapter 42	Increasing Sensitivity to Ageism	293
	Lori Cluff Schade
Chapter 43	Helping Clinicians Develop End-of-Life Awareness	301
	Michael N. Humble, Melinda W. Pilkinton, Kilolo Brodie, and Jennifer L. Johnson
About the Editors	307
About the Contributors	309
Author Index	317
Subject Index	325