

Contents

Preface	vi
Acknowledgments	ix
1 Establishing a Background for Developmental Psychology	1
2 Granville Stanley Hall and the Founding of Developmental Psychology	18
3 Additional Contributors and Contributions during the Child Study Era	34
4 Foundations for a Modern Science: The Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial and Developmental Psychology after World War I	57
5 Mainstream Advances in Developmental Psychology from the 1920s to the 1940s	77
6 Representative Theories of Development	102
7 The Origins of Life-Span Developmental Psychology	124
8 Nature, Nurture, and the Concept of Intelligence	143
9 Applications of Developmental Psychology: Advice to Parents and Teachers	170
10 Critical Developments since World War II	195
Index	213