Acknowledgements
1	What is Family Therapy? Patterns of Living,
	Patterns of Mind and Patterns of Therapy	1
	The systemic approach	2
	Families in transition	4
	Stressful life events and family life: patterns of stress and patterns of affirmation	5
	Patterns and problems over time: changing
	constraints and developing new solutions	7
	Historical and current dimensions	8
	Family systems, transitions and non-biologically
	connected families: implications for a family therapist	9
	Rethinking family bonds: diversity, intimacy
	and identity	11
	How do cultural values underpin family life?	12
	Culture, gender and development	13
	What is the job of the family therapist?	13
	Listening to families and to the the family in individual stories: internal and external discourses	14
	The family as the template for intimate relations:
	three ways of looking at what goes on	16
	Summary	19
2	Changes in Families: Theories in Change	21
_	Systems thinking, family pattern, family coherence,	21
	and dominant discourses	21
	The Xavier family	24
	The therapist's thinking	30
	Influences from structural family therapy	50
	in the Xavier family session	31
	The Riordan family	33
	The Milan approach	37
	Moving forward with theory	40

Contexts for Growth and Change The family and life cycle ideas: a pluralistic approach Multiculturalism and diversity Gay and lesbian families: diversity and homophobia Culture and changing micropractices: keeping up with change Ethnicity, culture, migration and family change Refugees and family work Creating conditions of safety Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' Secrets and silence in post-divorce narratives 110	3	Culture, Diversity and Developments (1): Rethinking
Multiculturalism and diversity Gay and lesbian families: diversity and homophobia Culture and changing micropractices: keeping up with change Ethnicity, culture, migration and family change Refugees and family work Creating conditions of safety Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Contexts for Growth and Change	47
Gay and lesbian families: diversity and homophobia Culture and changing micropractices: keeping up with change Ethnicity, culture, migration and family change Refugees and family work Creating conditions of safety Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		The family and life cycle ideas: a pluralistic approach	47
Culture and changing micropractices: keeping up with change Ethnicity, culture, migration and family change Refugees and family work Creating conditions of safety Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Multiculturalism and diversity	49
with change Ethnicity, culture, migration and family change Refugees and family work Creating conditions of safety Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 5 Pafiles, Divorce and Post-Divorce family Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact'		Gay and lesbian families: diversity and homophobia	50
with change Ethnicity, culture, migration and family change Refugees and family work Creating conditions of safety Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 5 Pafiles, Divorce and Post-Divorce family Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact'		Culture and changing micropractices: keeping up
Refugees and family work Creating conditions of safety Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105			51
Refugees and family work Creating conditions of safety Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Ethnicity, culture, migration and family change	54
Changing gender roles for men and women Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105			56
Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Creating conditions of safety	57
Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences in life cycle issues 64 Life cycle rituals: new constructions 66 Poverty and stresses 68 Factors that buffer individuals against stress 70 Intimacy and resilience 72 Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood 74 Communication and loss 76 Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy 80 Loss and adaptation 81 The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting 84 Transitions and second families 87 Adoption 87 Young adults who have grown up in second families 91 Theories of child development 92 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives 94 Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem 96 Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: 98 Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Changing gender roles for men and women	60
in life cycle issues Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Racism in daily life, and in the therapeutic context	62
Life cycle rituals: new constructions Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 92 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Gay and lesbian families: similarities and differences
Poverty and stresses Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		in life cycle issues	64
Factors that buffer individuals against stress Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 70 72 72 72 72 72 72 72 72 72 72 72 72 74 74 74 74 74 74 74 74 74 74 74 74 74		Life cycle rituals: new constructions	66
Intimacy and resilience Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: 98 Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Poverty and stresses	68
Summary 73 4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood 74 Communication and loss 76 Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy 80 Loss and adaptation 81 The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting 84 Transitions and second families 87 Adoption 87 Young adults who have grown up in second families 91 Theories of child development 92 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives 94 Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem 96 Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: 98 Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Factors that buffer individuals against stress	70
4 Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 74 74 74 75 76 74 74 75 76 74 76 74 76 76 76 76 74 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76			72
and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Fransitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 74 74 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76		Summary	73
and Transitions in Childhood Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Fransitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 74 74 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76 76	4	Culture, Diversity and Development (2): Loss
Communication and loss Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting B4 Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: P8 Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105	_		74
Variations in childcare patterns and the loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 80 81 81 82 84 85 87 86 87 87 87 87 87 87 87 87 87 87 87 87 87		Communication and loss	76
loss of intimacy Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting R4 Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 80 81 81 81 81 81 81 81 81 81 81 81 81 81
Loss and adaptation The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting Transitions and second families Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Paesidence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		-	80
The importance of a safe place: former loss and current parenting 84 Transitions and second families 87 Adoption 87 Young adults who have grown up in second families 91 Theories of child development 92 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives 94 Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem 96 Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: 98 Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105			81
parenting 84 Transitions and second families 87 Adoption 87 Young adults who have grown up in second families 91 Theories of child development 92 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives 94 Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem 96 Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: 98 Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105
Adoption Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 99 99 99 99 90 90 90 90			84
Young adults who have grown up in second families Theories of child development 5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 98 99 99 99 99 99 99 99 99 99		Transitions and second families	87
Theories of child development 92 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives 94 Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem 96 Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: 98 Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Adoption	87
5 Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work: Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		Young adults who have grown up in second families	91
Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 94 95 96 97 98 103 105		Theories of child development	92
Mothers', Fathers' and Children's Perspectives Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility Parenting alone Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 94 95 96 97 98 103 105	5	Families, Divorce and Post-Divorce Family Work:
Keeping life predictable and maintaining self-esteem Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105	_		94
Ambiguities in post-divorce relationships: 98 Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105
Residence and contact: parents and children in the post-divorce family Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105 in the post-divorce family 99 Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105
Acrimony and hostility 99 Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105			99
Parenting alone 103 Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105		± ,
Fathers; parenting in the context of 'contact' 105
		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·

	'Holding on to the bubble' – uncertainty about
	arrangements	114
	Bearing the family in mind	116
	Separation when children are very young	117
	The Juniper/Rowan family: early separation,
	attachment issues, and the restoration of contact	119
	Summary	127
6	Step-Families	128
	What is a step-family?	128
	Boys' and girls' ways of dealing with family distress:
	similarities and differences	131
	Lesbian and gay partnerships	133
	The extended family	135
	Economic tensions	138
	Stepmothers and mothers: trying to get it right	139
	Stepfathers and fathers	142
7	The Family and Mental Illness	147
	Cultural and family factors affecting descriptions
	of illness	147
	Professional approaches to family work with
	major mental illness	150
	Work focusing on patterns of communication	151
	Family descriptions and self-description	153
	Family relationships and different illness processes	155
	Mental illness and external realities: social factors	163
	Children of chronically ill parents: protective factors and 'being alright'	165
	Dementia in the elderly	167
8	Violence in Family Life	169
	The 'carry forward' of patterns	171
	The Wade family	172
	The O'Rourke family	180
	The use of language	180
	Post-divorce issues	183
	Family violence and traumatic effects on children	184
9	Sexual Abuse in Childhood and Some Effects
	in Adult Life	190
	Boundaries of trust in therapeutic work	190
	Therapy with a man: some considerations	192
	The therapist as another woman	194

	Traumatic, formless and perverse events	195
	Early work in therapy: the written word	195
	Confronting the voices of others in therapy:
	parents and children	197
	Maeve: using workmates and children to create alternative voices	199
	Talking with children about sexual abuse	202
10	Doing the work and making a difference	205
	Study your own coherence	205
	A theory you can live and work by	205
	Attention to text	206
	The wider world and family life	207
	Attention to the fragility of relationships	209
	Keeping an eye on oneself	210
	The family as template for intimate emotions	210
	What do we mean by resilience?	211
References		212
Index		226