

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword	ix
Introduction	xv
1. The Potential of Critical Educational Psychology Beyond its Meritocratic Past Lise Bird Claiborne	1
2. Education as Transformation: Why and How Isaac Prilleltensky	17
3. Heterotopics: Learning as Second Nature Tim Corcoran	37
4. Neo-Foucaultian Approaches to Critical Inquiry in the Psychology of Education Jeff Sugarman	53
5. School Sucks! Deconstructing Taylorist Obsessions Greg S. Goodman	71
6. ‘What’s the Score ’ with School Psychology: Do we Carry on Regardless or is There any Added Value? Christopher Boyle	83
7. Challenges Educational Psychologists Face Working with Vulnerable Children in Africa: Integration of Theory and Practice Jace Pillay	95
8. Towards a Critical Relational Educational (School) Psychology: Clinical Encounters Tom Billington	113
9. Solidarity, not Adjustment: Activism Learning as (Self-)Transformation Athanasios Marvakis & Ioanna Petrtsi	129
10. The Entanglement of Thinking and Learning Skills in Neoliberal Discourse: Self, Self-Regulated Learning, and 21 st Century Competencies Stephen Vassallo	145

TABLE OF CONTENTS

11. Psychologism, Individualism and the Limiting of the Social Context in Educational Psychology Jack Martin	167
12. Transformative Activist Stance for Education: The Challenge of Inventing the Future in Moving Beyond the Status Quo Anna Stetsenko	181
Index	199