
Contents

Preface.....	vii
The Editor	xi
Contributors	xiii
Chapter 1 Substrate Utilization in Female Athletes: Implications for Fuel Selection and Macronutrient Requirements	1
Amy C. Maher and Mark A. Tarnopolsky
Chapter 2 Carbohydrate Requirements for the Female Athlete.....	25
Louise M. Burke and Christine E. Dziedzic
Chapter 3 Protein Requirements for the Female Athlete.....	51
Nancy R. Rodriguez
Chapter 4 Fluid and Electrolyte Requirements for Female Athletes.....	75
Megan M. Wenner and Nina S. Stachenfeld
Chapter 5 Trace Minerals of Concern for Female Athletes: Iron and Zinc.....	93
Pamela Hinton
Chapter 6 Nutrients Needed for Optimal Bone Health in the Female Athlete ...	117
Kristine Spence
Chapter 7 B Vitamins and the Female Athlete	139
Kathleen Woolf, Dara L. LoBuono, and Melinda M. Manore
Chapter 8 Introduction: The Female Athlete Triad—Energy Availability, Menstrual Function, and Bone Health	181
Katherine A. Beals
Chapter 9 Energy Availability, Health, and Performance in the Female Athlete	183
Katherine A. Beals

Chapter 10 Menstrual Function and Dysfunction in the Female Athlete.....205
Anne B. Loucks

Chapter 11 Recommendations for Optimizing Bone Strength and Reducing Fracture Risk in Female Athletes 229
Michelle Barrack

Index..... 247